FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE
Branson Hotel Company Serves Community

Branson, MO- Myer Hotels has once again stepped in to help serve the Branson community. Each year Myer Hotels has the opportunity to participate in a local ministry, Loaves and Fishes. Loaves and Fishes is an organization that provides hot meals during the winter season to area residents who may be seasonal employees, homeless, or those who just need a little extra help. This year marks the ninth year that the company has volunteered with Loaves and Fishes.

Several staff members from Myer Hotels volunteered to prepare and serve a meal during one of the nights. A warm, breakfast meal that consisted of pancakes, biscuits and gravy, ham, sausage, omelets was prepared. There were over fifty people that the staff members were able to serve that particular night.

Josh Broadway, General Manager at the Quality Inn West, helps to coordinate this event each year. He said, "Loaves and Fishes is a way for us as a hotel company, and as team members, to give back to the community. It is a fun event that we always look forward to each year. It's a great community outreach!"
